BORDEAUX, Feb 13.—A quorum of the Assembly has not arrived yet. There was a caucus to day of Orleanists who believe that they possess a clear majority. Many Bonapartists agents are here.

General News from France.

PARIS Feb 13.—Everything has been arranged at Bordeaux.

A committee to negotiate a treaty of peace has been settled and a draft of the treaty has been approved by Bismarck and Von Moltke. The treaty will be signed immediately and the German troops will then march through Paris to Strasbourg and there take trains for home.

The Assembly will adjourn to Paris and proceed with the re organization of France.

The Departments not occupied by Germans are ravaged by bands of Franc-Tireurs who are pillaging travelers and houses, and terror reigns in those Departments.

Discreditable revelations are making concerning the Provisional Government. It is said that members hold immense sums of money made out of contracts. They secretly disposed of stores and provisions. Provisions are pouring into the city, and prices are lower.

Elections in Paris.

LONDON Feb 14.—A second ballot will be required in Paris to determine the election of Favre, Ulrich, Fouville, Faidherbe, Couchin and Gambier, who have not obtained requisite majorities.

The Times' Berlin dispatch says the French elections being pacific Bismarck has conceded on principle to the prolongation of the armistice for one week, and has made a definite agreement dependent on certain military conditions.

The Telegraph's Versailles special says the Emperor is very unwell, but persists in his determination to enter Paris.

The resumption of hostilities is strongly anticipated.

Railroad Transit Obstructed.

The Republican ticket for the Assembly in the Department of Somme was badly defeated.

The Germans to Enter Paris.

LONDON, Feb 15.—The Paris press is excited. La Reforme is opposed to the entry of the Germans and foresees bloody encounters.

A majority of the journals counsel the citizens to remain indoors, and display mourning emblems during the passage of the troops. Much dissatisfaction prevails.

There is a meagre distribution of provisions. Distress is decreasing.

Sealed letters are now posted for Paris.

It is stated that the Paris Government will publish minutes of its sittings from the 4th of September to the conclusion of the armistice.

The United States and England.

B C Whiting was nominated to day for Superintendent of Indian Affairs in California.

EASTERN STATES.

The Steamer Tennessee.

NEW YORK, Feb 14.—The statement of Secretary Robeson regarding the Tennessee is that it is too soon by ten days to expect news from her. Notwithstanding extraordinary means of communication has been employed to allay public anxiety, still there is considerable solicitude.

The World has a dispatch from Philadelphia giving additional particulars from Capt Drummond of sighting the Tennessee. He says that he first saw this vessel at 11 o'clock on the night of January 18th. The vessel left New York harbor late in the afternoon of the 17th by land time. It was the 19th by nautical time when I first saw her mast head light. I do not know that she was a bark rigged vessel. The vessel was acting very strangely and it was all I could do to keep out of her way. She was steering directly south. She crossed our bows within 500 feet of us. This was about 100 miles from Cape Hatteras, and a perfect gale had been blowing. I feel confident that it was the Tennessee we saw. If she got through the storm all right she would certainly have put in at Jamaica in four days and reported from that place. Both Capt Drummond and the first mate are positive it was the Tennessee they saw, as she would have been just at that place on the 18th day of January, land time.

Supplies for the Destitute in Europe.

NEW YORK, Feb 14.—The U S steamer Worcester, at Boston and the storeship Supply at New York, are placed at the disposal of the committees organized in these places for the purpose of sending supplies for the destitute and suffering people of France and Germany. These ships will employ all men now at the disposal of the Department and it is suggested that supplies for this object, collected at other places, be forwarded for transportation to one of the above named cities.

ST LOUIS Feb 15.—Gen John M Turner, Chief Commissary of this Department, has been transferred to the Department of the Pacific, and left for San Francisco to day.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 14.—It is rumored that Hon Thomas Shannon will succeed General La Grange as Superintendent of the Mint, but no changes will be made in the Revenue Department.

Forty thousand pounds of government navy plug tobacco were sold to day at 38@40 cents, Charles Hare being the successful bidder.

Consuls at San Salvador and other Central and South American States have received orders to annul the papers of all vessels flying their flags engaged in the coolie trade. These have heretofore been mainly vessels purchased here for British American owners and transferred to San Salvador and other Spanish American flags expressly to engage in the coolie trade. This move will leave them only the Italian flag to sail under and probably that also will be denied them.

Judge Sawyer to day discharged Murphy manager of the late City Bank, on the charge of felony in tearing his name off of a note for $1,000 given to a woman, on the ground that no felonious intent was manifested. Murphy testified that he had offered to renew it at one year, and tore off the name to give her a new one, which she declined on account of its being all in writing. She wanted one on a printed blank.

A quantity of coal, comprising the cargo of the barkentine Lulu from Queen Charlotte's Island—the first anthracite coal ever landed here from a port on this side of the Pacific—is highly praised. It is considered equal to fair Lackawanna, and it is thought that it will ultimately supercede eastern coal in this market, and can be laid down at a fraction of the cost.

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 15.—The weather is clearing up overhead. Rain fell this morning making a total fall of 14 inches for the season.

A consultation of Republicans understood to be opposed to railroad subsidies and in favor of bringing out Newton Booth for Governor was held here last night, with what success has not transpired.

Advices by steamer from Sonora say that the convention for the Presidency will be very hot between the partisans of Juarez and Merdo. In these States the partisans of Gen Porfiero Diaz are numerous and active and anxious to run him as an independent candidate. Vega has abandoned his main ambition and political scheme, and become a common highway robber.

It is understood that Congress votes the subsidy for the Australian and New Zealand steamship line, the first steamer to be dispatched March 31st or April 1st.

Notable Death at Shasta.

SHASTA, Feb 14.—Col. W S Long, a prominent lawyer of this place, formerly of Sacramento, died here last Saturday.

Fire at Truckee.

TRUCKEE Feb 14.—At 5 o'clock last evening the wood shed of the Central Pacific Railroad Co a few rods east of this place was discovered in flames. Although strong efforts were made the fire was not extinguished until two thirds of the shed and about 100 cords of wood were destroyed. The fire is supposed to have caught by the sparks from passing engines. The round house and other railroad buildings had a narrow escape.

It has been snowing all night, but is now clearing up.

UTAH.

SALT LAKE, Feb 14.—Last Sunday night, a party of Indians having obtained whisky and getting drunk, took forcible possession of a man's house north of town, stole all the provisions they could find, smashed the furniture and made a camp fire of it outside. The city marshal was called upon to disperse them.

THE WRECK OF THE SAGINAW

FULL HISTORY OF THE ILL-STARRED EXPEDITION AND WHAT CAME OF IT—THE MIDWAY ISLAND—SPECULATION AND ITS RESULTS—PARTICULARS OF THE WRECK OF THE SAGINAW AND THE RESCUE OF THE CREW

[From the Honolulu Commercial Advertiser Jan 28]

A COALING STATION WANTED

Through the misrepresentation of interested parties backed by the recommendations of a naval officer who was either incompetent to judge or who was influenced by unworthy feelings of prejudice and spite against the Government and the people of the islands, the North Pacific Mail Steamship Company was led to believe that, by the expenditure of a reasonable sum, a good harbor could be made at Midway Island, a barren sand bank, inclosed in a coral reef, situated in north latitude 28° 13' and west longitude 177° 24', distant 1,100 miles and forty eight miles from Ocean Island. This was to be the coaling station for the company's steamers on their voyages between San Francisco and China. As a commencement, Congress appropriated $50,000 for the work of blasting a ship canal through the reef. The Saginaw was detailed for the service, and on the 22d of February, 1870, left San Francisco for Midway Island via Honolulu, having on board a party of experienced divers, and all the necessary machinery, apparatus and stores for carrying on the work of blasting and excavating the proposed channel. She arrived at the island March 24th, and after putting up the necessary buildings, the business of blasting the bar was commenced, and the first trial was considered satisfactory, fifty pounds of powder having been used in two charges, each dislodging about five tons of rock. This was to be hoisted into a scow and then dumped on the reef on either side of the proposed cut. The channel was to be over 600 feet in length, with a general average width of 200 feet and a depth of 24 feet.

THE WORK DISCONTINUED

On the 14th of May, the Saginaw sailed for Honolulu and up to the date of her loss, October 29th, had made four trips to and from the island. On her last return from Honolulu, Captain Sicard brought orders to the working party to discontinue operations, as the appropriation ($50 000) had been exhausted. After toiling laboriously and constantly, whenever the weather and health of the men would permit, under water and in boats and scows for six months, using large quantities of powder and fuse, they had excavated a channel near the centre of the cut about 15 feet wide and 450 feet in length, and the $50 000 was expended, and the work brought to a stop. At this rate the work will cost, when completed, at least a sum of $1,000,000. It is very much to be doubted whether the United States Government will consent to the throwing away of any more money in the useless attempt to make an available harbor at Midway after the experience of the past year. If Congress is again prevailed upon to aid the insane project by appropriating more funds it will certainly require a vast deal of lobbying and corruption.

The prevailing winds of Midway during the summer months were the northeast trades, so called, varying from E by N to E S E. In the fall and winter, the wind was mostly from the North, with occasional strong gales from the west. When the westerly gales blew, the mouth of the lagoon being, as in all coral islands, on that side, the sea broke heavily all over the lagoon and no work could be done. On one occasion the workmen were returning to the island from the entrance of the channel when one of those gales came on, and, said our informant, it was a mighty big conundrum at one time whether she would ever reach the shore. During the month of April the thermometer ranged at 68 at sunrise to 86 at noon and 80 at sundown. Twenty eight days in July, marked 70, 94 and 81, morning, noon and night, and for twenty two days in October 73, 84 and 73.

THE SAGINAW SAILS FOR SAN FRANCISCO—HER WRECK ON OCEAN ISLAND

Having taken on board the working party and their materials on Friday (traditionally unlucky for sailors), the Saginaw left Midway Island for San Francisco. It was determined, however, to visit Ocean Island, about 48 miles to the west, where it was possible that some vessel might have been wrecked. It was upon this island that the British ship Gledstanes was wrecked in 1837, and the American ship Parker in September, 1842. The crew of the latter ship were taken from the island in May 1843. But the Saginaw on her humane mission, became herself a wreck. The wind was fair and the engines were running slowly, and it was expected that they would be near the island about four in the morning. At half past two the engines were stopped, [illegible] At half past three the [illegible] reported that he [illegible] breakers ahead [illegible] thought to be [illegible] immediately [illegible] done and [illegible] the [illegible] ing evidently that some of the steam [illegible] tions were broken. During this time the sails were still set, and could not be got in before she struck. When the breakers were reported, and the engine backed, the [illegible] were sent aloft to furl the topsails, but were not got in soon enough to prevent giving the ship more headway [illegible] gines with the steam they had [illegible] act. SAVING PROVISIONS FROM THE WRECK

To add to the disagreeable character of the situation many of the men became utterly unable to work on account of drink. In clearing out the hold they had discovered the wine lockers in the ward room, and had helped themselves, and although there was nothing in it stronger than ale and claret, on men who are debarred from all liquors, and who were fasting, the effect was soon apparent.

THE SHIP ABANDONED

At 5 o'clock P M word was [illegible] abandon the ship. All hands went ashore. The damaged p[illegible] spread out on awnings and such [illegible] be got at. Much of the bread ha[illegible] in bags and the wash of the sea [illegible] through the holes in the ship's side [illegible] reduced it to a mere pulp, such as to be absolutely uneatable, except to people in danger of starvation. The bread in boxes fared better, since it was kept in shape, and was [illegible] so thoroughly saturated. Much of the [illegible] and pork was broken out of the barre[illegible] everything was adrift. On getting to shore, tired, wet and hungry, after twenty four hours of fasting and fourteen of severe labor, no one felt any ambition to provide for a shelter, but sunk to rest in the sand. During the afternoon, a party had been in search of fresh water, but had found none. Streams or springs were not expected, but it was thought that by digging fresh water might be obtained. But this first attempt was a failure. As the sun went down on the shipwrecked company "on a lone barren isle," all hands were piped to supper. A half a cupful of water from the scanty stock saved from the ship, a half a cake of hard bread, and a couple of ounces of raw pork constituted the allowance per man. The officers, fifteen in number, fared questionably better, for they had a small leg of mutton which, having been kept too long in a warm climate, was tainted and had an "ancient and fish like smell." Some chickens, turkeys and sheep that were saved were turned loose upon the island. It was necessary to put all hands—93 souls—at once on short allowance, for it was uncertain what supplies the island might afford, and a long period might elapse before they were relieved. After the frugal supper those who were fortunate enough to have saved tobacco divided and after a smoke, as cheerfully as the circumstances would allow, all settled their wearied bodies among the bushes to sleep or to ponder over the events of the day and to speculate on the prospects ahead.

It was in truth

A REMARKABLE SHIPWRECK

The night had been clear starlight, with a moderate breeze. The ship was heading direct for an island whose position [illegible] distance—and that a short [illegible] were shown approximately, if not precisely. She was making not over two and a half to three knots, yet she ran directly, without any particular lack of vigilance, on a reef which was above water and on which the breakers were dashing furiously. The presence of a strong current is the only hypothesis in explanation. The fact that the ship's stern went up high and dry on the reef, so that the most important stor[illegible] a remark [illegible] recollect [illegible] casion [illegible] man [illegible] narro[illegible] overbo[illegible] vessel la[illegible] difficulty [illegible] Th[illegible]

January comes [illegible] and the gig has been absent over six weeks. [illegible] are getting despondent, giving her up for lost, while others simply complain of hunger and work patiently on the second cutter, which is about finished. But work progresses slowly, for men cannot work very briskly on empty stomachs.

At length, on the afternoon of the 3d of January, the carpenter, at work on the large boat (he was encouraged to work by double [illegible] half rations) raised his head to wipe the perspiration from his face, when he saw a black smoke in the offing. Hardly daring to trust his eyes he stooped again to his work, but with a beating heart. Soon looking again to seaward he felt sure that what he saw was and then he shouted. In an instant the the camp was in commotion. Very soon the vessel came in sight, the Kilauea and her Hawaiian flag at her mast head seemed to those half famished, half-clothed mariners a rainbow in the skies.

How the steamer took them all on board the next day, how they bade farewell to the barren spot where they had spent so many dreary waiting days, and sailed away for Honolulu, faring sumptuously on the generous supplies sent for their use—all these circumstances have been mentioned before in these columns.

And so ends the history of the attempt to make a harbor and coaling station at Midway Island. The result has been the loss of four lives and a fine vessel of war, the sinking of $50 000, and months of [illegible]—and nothing accomplished.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says: The new steamer Enterprise ascended the Umpqua as far as Sawyer's Rapids, and run over them without a line.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 16, 1871.

The Contest in California.

Though the regular election in California will not take place till September next political discussion is remarkably lively, and the agony of a periodical contest is rapidly coming on. Just now the commotion is almost wholly within the Democratic party, and the manner in which it is developing promises a warm contest in the bowels of the Democracy. A full ticket is to be chosen, comprising Governor and other State officers, Congressmen and members of the Legislature, and the various rings within the party are working with might and main to put up the candidates as they want them. For all the leading offices, and especially for those which have money in them, there are candidates innumerable, and it may reasonably be doubted whether there is to be found anywhere else so hungry a set as the Democracy of California.

Besides the struggle of candidates for place there is another feature of the contest within the Democratic ranks which is becoming very interesting and which promises a plentiful lack of harmony. This feature is the question of subsidies for local railways. A fierce fight is already going on among Democratic papers and politicians over it. Gov. Haight is a candidate for re-nomination, and he seeks it on the sole issue of opposition to subsidies in every form, even though granted by a majority vote of the people of each county. This does not suit the Democracy of many of the interior counties, and accordingly they are declaring against Gov. Haight's re-nomination. The Sacramento Reporter, the "State organ," delivers sturdy blows every day against the Governor, and declares emphatically that the Democratic party of California will not be "arrayed against railroad [illegible]." Likewise the Sonoma Democrat [illegible] as Governor Haight has [illegible] on the railroad question and [illegible] the right of the people of the different [illegible] for themselves and vote as their interests dictate, it will not follow his example. "This," it says brusquely, "is [illegible] position and we take back nothing and apologize to nobody." Most of the papers [illegible] taking sides on the question, and seem to be [illegible] divided upon it.

[illegible] are generally quiet in the [illegible] and uproar, and are evidently [illegible] to permit their antagonists to fight among themselves as much they please. The indications are however, that a lively campaign will occur, and that the war among [illegible] may enable the Republicans to carry the State.

Removing the Capital.

A very long article by L. U. Reavis of St. Louis in advocacy of the removal of the National Capital from Washington to some more central city is published in the New York [illegible]. The article is in the form of a letter addressed to President Grant, who, with his [illegible] practical good sense, spoke, not long [illegible] in opposition to the proposed removal. [illegible] of the proposition [illegible] of the Capital mover, who had been allowed [illegible] space in its columns:

> The capital of a great nation is not to be [illegible] on wheels and dragged hither and thither as a casual majority may dictate. We [illegible] the legal efficacy of such [illegible] may maintain that removal is so [illegible] that, though the Constitution does not expressly prescribe it, something [illegible] constitutional amendment should be [illegible] to effect it.

Oregon Verse in London.

[illegible] Miller, the Oregon versifier, who [illegible] and other poems, is [illegible] London, and has taken up the trade of verse making in the great metropolis. The first fruit of his labor there is a volume in green and gold, of one hundred and seven pages, and contains two pieces entitled respectively, Arizonian and Oregonian. The author calls the volume which contains these pieces, Pacific Poems. We have not had opportunity to look through the book except in a very cursory manner, but the style and argument of the poems appear very much like those he published here two years ago. We [illegible] that he calls himself "Joaquin Miller." This is a ridiculous affectation. It is supposed that Mr. Miller will remain a while in London and consult the muses. He is exhibiting a good deal of energy and industry, and we expect to hear of his running a tilt against Grub street and the Reviewers.

The leader in Harper's Weekly of February 11th, says of the Presidential prospects for 1872:

> There is indeed no other serious candidacy [illegible] and the reason undoubtedly [illegible] the administration of General Grant is felt [illegible] be wholly honest, efficient, and satisfactory [illegible] indeed a feeble Republican administration would be more trusted by the country than any Democratic administration whatever. For the permanent fact in the politics [illegible] a situation which is universally seen and pondered is that the Democratic party is the party which was against the war and the victory of the Union, and which steadily honors the cause and the leaders of the rebellion.

The article closes thus:

> During Mr. Lincoln's first term, and in the [illegible] of the war, there were those who [illegible] it would be wise to try a new candidate [illegible] had not been so severely criticised. But those who heard the thrilling shout of unanimity with which he was renominated in Baltimore knew that it was the voice of that great popular confidence, which was only the surer because it was not blinded by idolatry. The good sense of the people renominated Lincoln, as it elected Grant. The same sagacity is now turning to Grant, as a man who has faithfully served the country, and whom the country heartily trusts.

Congress has passed a bill to enable all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, who served in the late war, and the widows and orphan children of those who fell in the struggle, to acquire homesteads on the public lands. There were two votes in the House in the negative, viz: Gibson of Virginia, and Smith of Oregon. "Our Joseph" is opposed to anybody's having land, except the Oregon land ring. His political friends here can vote away the school lands to corporations, but he and they don't want the soldiers who fought in the war to have any.

The New York Tribune of January 28th contains a remarkably perspicuous review of the history of the Franco-German war. The subject is treated with ability and candor. As an outline of the causes and events of the war the review is unequaled by anything we have seen. It occupies something more than one of the broad and closely printed pages of the Tribune, and may be very valuable for reference.

It is now known that the German losses at Sedan were not over 6,000 men. How badly, indeed, must the French forces have been handled, when they were utterly routed and compelled to surrender, though 125,000 strong, without being able to inflict a greater loss than 6,000 upon their enemies. The spirit of the First Napoleon has indeed departed from France.

CURRENT NOTES.

A new machine for taking off the hide of dead cattle will shortly be tried at Buenos Ayres. The operation is short, sharp and decisive, requiring only a minute for each hide. Cold air is forced by a pump between the flesh and the hide, and the thing is done.

The new enumeration of the inhabitants of New York City, showing but a very slight increase over the one first taken, proves that the first one was as accurate as possible and confirms the fact that in some of the districts in the city the vote has been greater than the entire population.

The Washington (Ind.) Democrat gives the following item: "The roof of the frame building west of the Meredith House caught fire yesterday. A gentleman immediately ascended to the roof, and, by energetic expectoration, kept the fire in abeyance until he was supplied with a bucket of water, when the flames were extinguished. Let him be promoted.

There is a beautiful girl living near Montreal, who, notwithstanding the fact that she has lost both legs above her knees, has received over a dozen offers of marriage during the past year, and refused them all. One of her lovers is a member of the Dominion Parliament. This afflicted girl speaks seven languages, and charms everybody who comes near her.

The Independent publishes an article by Vice President Colfax on the financial situation of the country, in which he recommends that the Secretary of the Treasury be authorized to redeem, in gold, after March 1st, $40,000,000 of 5 20s, and that national Banks be required to retain in reserve fund their gold interest on the Government bonds deposited in Washington as security for circulation, thus releasing a corresponding amount of greenbacks, and preparing them to redeem their notes in specie.

Concerning the recent rumor that the Pennsylvania Central Railroad had obtained a controlling interest in the Union Pacific, it is now said that Thomas Scott, of the Pennsylvania Central road, will be elected President of the Union Pacific; that the Pennsylvania Central has nothing to do with the Union Pacific, but that it is a private arrangement on the part of Scott, who, it is said, has bought of the Union Pacific people for himself or for the Pennsylvania Central 3,000 or 4,000 shares, at $10 per share, and a large amount of the bonds.

New York is excited over the following paragraph which appeared in a review of the Holland Dramatic Benefit: "Among the appearances was Miss Glyn, one of England's greatest actresses, in the last remorseful scene of her guilt-stained career." Miss Glyn is a lady of irreproachable character, and was never subject even to kleptomania. It is sure as truth that she is not the heroine of a series of murder, and that she was never in danger of any block more deadly than that of the green room. The unhappy paragraph referred to Miss Glyn's personation of Lady Macbeth.

A Chicago paper has received a visit from a middle-aged gentleman, who protested, politely but firmly, against the publication of any more of Bret Harte's poems in the columns of that paper. He assured the editors that these poems were all leveled against himself, prompted by malicious intent, and only thinly veiled under the symbolism of a secret society. They were moreover, he said, inspired by "rank infidelity." That person must have been "Bill Nye" himself. It would have been money in the editors' pockets had they secured him and exhibited him publicly.

The miners' strike in the Pennsylvania coal regions still continues, and it is now feared that a resumption of operations will not be possible before spring. The Workingman's Association, so-called, has issued orders prohibiting any miner returning to work for an indefinite period, and none will dare to disobey this edict. The rules of this Association are of the most tyrannical character, and resistance to them is sure to provoke severe punishment. The Miners' Journal says there is evidence that prominent dealers in New York and Philadelphia pay leading officers of the Workingman's Association to start and help periodical strikes, and there are few, probably, who will doubt the correctness of this statement.

WAR MISCELLANY.

The German papers mention, as an indirect result of the war, that there has been a marked increase of lunacy in France, all the asylums being crowded.

However great may be the yearning for peace in France, the desire for this blessing is no less in Germany. A correspondent in Germany emphatically asserts that the people are thoroughly tired of war, and that only the proprietary and professional classes offer any defence of the continued prosecution of the war.

France is conquered, but it must be recorded to the credit of the Republic that it has not only done all the aggressive fighting that has been done in the field since the war began, but that its officers have kept the peace of Paris under circumstances such as never tried the strength of any previous government.

A German paper, referring to the inconvenience caused to German commerce by the want of railway carriages and baggage vans, says it is not altogether caused, as is supposed, by the necessities of the army service. It has been necessary indeed, to employ large numbers of such vehicles in transporting troops, ammunition and stores, but that which is now impending the trade and paralysing the industry of Germany "is a desire to furnish the Parisians with provisions."

The North German Correspondent says: "The French dwell with pleasure on stories of Prussian inhumanity. Of course, none but barbarians could think of attacking the "Holy City" of the cancan, and the German armies now in France must be classed, if we are to credit their enemies, with the Goths, the Vandals and the Huns. We leave it to the able journalists of France to reconcile such statements with the fact that the Germans are at present sacrificing the commercial interests of their own country to the desire of sparing their enemies every suffering which is not absolutely necessary to secure the objects of the war."

GRANT'S HABITS.—The President and Vice-President are regular attendants at the Metropolitan Methodist Church, which is a new thing under the sun; for even Mr. Lincoln, with his devotional and religious tendencies, could not always find time to visit the temples on Sundays. Mr. Johnson seldom went to church, or any other public place for that matter. Very different in that respect is General Grant, who seems to enjoy a daily promenade on the avenue, scanning with his sharp, restless eye, all the novelties of dress and figure which ornament that magnificent thoroughfare in the mellow, sunny afternoons of this charming climate. The President and Mrs. Grant, somewhat to the chagrin of the old regime, have broken the old law of etiquette which forbade visiting, and are seen among their friends just the same as though they were made of the same clay, and possessed common and human sympathies, all of which we, common people, rather like and commend.—Washington Letter.

The Sacramento Union assails Governor Woods of Oregon, and says that the Senate ought not to confirm him for Governor of Utah Territory, to which position he was nominated by President Grant. The San Francisco Chronicle thus replies: The Union assigns no reason in particular, except that Governor Woods came down from Oregon to stump California for the Republican ticket when Gorham was the Gubernatorial candidate. If this is a crime that unfits a man for responsible positions, the leaders of the Republican party with whom Woods acted had better all resign and leave to the Union the conduct of the next campaign. The Union will not command the confidence of any number of Republicans if it allows its personal animosities to lead it to hound every one who believed in Republican success four years since. Woods has already been confirmed, and the Union's attack falls harmless. It only shows its own vindictiveness.

In the U. S. Senate a few days ago Mr. Saulsbury delivered a long argument on current political topics, which tended to show the inconsistency and futility of reconstruction, and eulogistic of the military and civil services of General Hancock, who he speaks of as the standard bearer of the Democratic party of 1872. The salvation of the country was to be achieved through the election of a man like Hancock, who while he could fight, could also obey the laws. We shall see how a "Federal butcher" like Hancock will sit on the Democratic stomach.

OREGON.

The following amount of business was transacted in the Roseburg Land Office for January: Number of acres sold, 2,541; taken as homesteads 3,089.55; pre emptions, 2,400; donations certified for, 16,015.56. Total, 24,156 11.

From the Statesman: A friend who was on the back route between Dallas and Corvallis, and on which are the postoffices of Bridgeport and Lewisville, and some others, calls our attention that under the last lettings of mail contracts these places have no mail facilities whatever, causing much inconvenience and actual loss to those who live on that route.

From the Statesman: A deed to the O. & C. R. R. Co. was filed yesterday, by Linus Brooks, living seven miles north of Salem, on the railroad line, for ten acres of his land for a railroad station. Gervais is about fourteen or fifteen miles from Salem, and of course another station is needed to accommodate the people who live between the two places. Yesterday, when our informant passed up, surveyors were laying off the future town site.

From the Roseburg Ensign: At the request of the State Board, the Register and Receiver of the Land Office here recently prepared amended lists of indemnity school selections for the different counties composing this Land District. The total amount of selections foot up to 26,486 acres, the greater portion of which is selected in Lane, Douglas and Jackson counties, with a limited amount in Linn, Benton and Josephine counties. The lists thus amended have been forwarded to the General Land Office at Washington for final action.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Governor Hoffman says frauds have been committed in New York elections. He evidently speaks as one who knows. But he denounced the Government of the United States for trying to stop them.

A bill has been introduced in the Missouri Legislature to consolidate the county and city of St. Louis under one government, and extend the limits of the city so as to embrace the entire county. Many radical changes are proposed, several offices abolished, and the elective offices materially reduced in number.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says that "the feeling in favor of negro testimony is almost as general to-day as the feeling against it was two years ago. A complete revolution has come over the people since they have come to understand the bearing and operation of the case. If the Legislature would act, and promptly, the whole matter would be over and done with."

Says the San Francisco Chronicle: The opposition to Governor Haight is beginning to develop itself in the ranks of the Democracy. Tom Findley, ex State Treasurer, has determined to secure the nomination, and is making a strong canvass. The rumored combination between Johnson and McCoppin, whereby the latter accepts the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, is popular in the northern counties. Another move on the board points to Jacob R. Snyder of Sonoma, as a compromise candidate. He has no "re-kord."

THURSDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 16, 1871.

CITY.

An Attempt at Robbery at Milwaukie.—Our little neighbor, Milwaukie, has had a sensation at last. Monday evening a young man who is well known at that and various other places, came into Mr. Cann's store and waited some time, till everybody else had gone away, meantime whiling away the tedious moments with social chat. Finally about a quarter past eleven o'clock he rose up as if to retire, but instead of going for the door he turned to Mr. Cann, and presenting a revolver said he would relieve that gentleman of such cash moneys as he might have handy. Mr. Cann was naturally a little surprised at the turn affairs were taking, and he manifested that surprise by uttering an exclamation which, fortunately, was overheard by his wife—the family residence being in the back part of the store. Mrs. Cann ran out the back door and raised an alarm by shrieking, like a dutiful wife, and tumbling in the mud. The young man, whose ambition it was to relieve Mr. Cann of his coin, was in turn surprised by the turn affairs were taking, and concluded to skedaddle without waiting for the neighbors to come in and bear witness. The young man was absent from home yesterday, and will probably not resume his residence at Milwaukie for some time.

Freight for the North.—The following are the coasting and foreign manifests of the propeller California, hence for Puget Sound and Victoria, last evening:

Coasting Manifest—Merchandise not included—Flour, 4986 qr sks; mess pork, 11 bbls; apples, 40 bxs; beans, 10 gunnies and 5 sks; lard, 10 cases and 10 kegs; butter, 21 cases; peas, 22 sks; corned beef, 2 bbls; sweet potatoes, 4 crates; shoulders, 3 gunnies; cheese, 1 case; salmon, 6 kegs; dried apples, 5 kegs; wheat, 32 sks; bacon, 6 gunnies and 13 cases; oats, 11 sks; bran, 124 sks; hams, 10 gunnies; corn meal 17 sks; eggs, 2 bxs; shorts, 24 sks; middlings, 150 sks.

Foreign Manifest—For Victoria—1 bale flannel, 20 sks middlings, 16 sks peas, 24 sks shorts, 5 bags corn meal, 3 cases lard, 450 sks middlings, 5 kegs butter, 40 boxes apples, 2528 qr sks flour, 3 plows, 32 sks wheat, 3 sets axle irons, 2 sks newspapers, 1 box personal effects.

Value of goods and produce in foreign manifest, $4,750 90.

Boundary Decision.—The case tried in the Circuit Court on Tuesday and yesterday, entitled Bloch vs. Shartle, Street Commissioner, was a suit to determine the boundary line between the [illegible] of Portland proper and Couch's Addition, [illegible] the right of the city to open A street, the right being contingent upon the establishment of the boundary line according to a certain survey. The finding of the jury was as follows: "We [illegible] that the stone monument at the section line between sections 33 and 34, is the boundary line between the Couch claim and the Stark claim." This establishes the survey made by C. W. Burrage in 1862, and the right of the city to open and use the street.

Special Trip to Kalama.—The new steamer Dixie Thompson will make a special trip to Kalama, on Saturday, leaving Portland at 8 o'clock in the morning, and returning in the afternoon, to leave Kalama at 3 o'clock. Rt. Rev. Bishop [illegible] and a number of friends will go upon this excursion, to attend the ceremonies of laying the [illegible] stone for an Episcopal Church at Kalama. Tickets for the round trip, one dollar.

A Quick Trip.—We mentioned yesterday morning that the rival steamers Fannie Troup and Vancouver went away snorting Tuesday afternoon, and that there would probably be a race to Kalama. The Fannie Troup arrived at [illegible] ahead, making the trip from wharf to wharf in three hours and thirty minutes. As she made the usual landings, this was a quick trip.

Passengers for the North.—The N. P. T. [illegible] propeller steamship California, Hayes, commander, sailed at 4 P. M. yesterday for Puget Sound and Victoria, taking the following named passengers: Miss Edie Cason, J S Saunders, Capt E Starr, Joe Levy, N N Cochrane and wife, Frank Sahl, wife and child, J H Hayden, N Lambert and 3 in the steerage.

Sailed.—The Live Yankee left yesterday morning in tow of the Okanagon, having for cargo the following: 4,803 bbls flour, 25 cs empty bottles, [illegible] mowing machine, 40 empty barrels, 285 bbls salmon, 50 hf bbls do, 5 kits do, 334 sks wheat, [illegible] lard, 60 bbls pork, 8 hf bbls do. Total, [illegible] 600 tons.

Through to Monticello.—The steamer Vancouver will go through to Monticello to-day, leaving Portland at half-past two o'clock. Passage to Monticello, one dollar; to Kalama, 50 cents.

AMUSEMENTS.

Oro Fino Theater.—The smallest house since Miss Leo Hudson's first appearance, witnessed the second rendition of "The Cataract of the Ganges" last evening. The play is evidently not to the taste of the theater going public. To-night the spectacular, equestrian drama of "The Wizard Steed" will be produced for the first time in this city.

Festival.—The festival at the Taylor Street M. E. Church, last evening, was well attended and like these affairs in general, was socially and financially successful.

ARRIVAL OF BARK WHISTLER.

MEMORANDA.

Sailed from San Francisco Jan. 28th; when [illegible] days out, was within 40 miles of the Columbia bar when wind died down into calm, and had the Tug been where she ought to have been, would have come in the next day; came to the bar Saturday, 11th inst., and was forced to take the Tug's hawser, the bar being rough; arrived at Astoria on Saturday 11th, and being unable to get steam up the river, sailed to Oak Point; towed thence by steamer Okanagon.

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR.

A Morning Visit.—Mrs Graham—Kate, where is your mother, this morning? Kate—She is in the kitchen making mince pies. Mrs. G.—Why Kate, you surprise me! Mrs. Crocker told me only a few days ago that she was quite sick, and not able to be about. Kate—Oh yes, she has been quite sick; but the day after Mrs. C. was here, ma sent for a bottle of Plantation Bitters, and has taken it three times a day since. It worked like a charm, and ma says she is better and stronger than she has been for years. She thinks it the best medicine in the world, and wants me to take some; but it is so awful bitter I do not like it. I have taken it several times, but it gives me such an appetite that I tell you her mince pies will not last long. Mrs. G.—Good morning, Kate. Give my love to your mother, and tell her she is safe so long as she has Plantation Bitters in the house.

OR

RHEUMATIC CURE.

HISTORY:

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principle of the Unk Weed, Eng.—Thaspium, Cordatum, Origanis, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon—Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county.

PROPERTIES, &c.:

It contains an active volatile principle extracted by Ether, and a bitter Tonic principle.

Medical Properties and Uses:

It is the most Sure and Speedy Cure for Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatic Pains of all kinds that has ever been introduced in the Materia Medica. The Unk Weed Remedy as prepared by us, in consequence of the existing bitter principle, possesses the necessary virtue of being a POWERFUL TONIC!

Promoting the Appetite and Invigorating the whole Digestive Apparatus, thus building and strengthening the system, while at the same time the volatile principle, being absorbed in the blood, acts specifically on the Rheumatic Poison, removing it from the circulation and system.

There are few remedies known to the Medical profession, which will remove the Rheumatic poison from the blood, but whose action is so powerful in depressing the system of the already enfeebled Rheumatic patient, that their use has to be abandoned before specific effects are obtainable. Hence the want of success in treating this prevalent, and in consequence, heretofore incurable disease. Unlike these Medicines, already known, the

"Unk weed Remedy"

Though producing as powerful and as active effects on the blood and system in removing the Rheumatic Poison, also possesses a strong Tonic and recuperating element, which admits of its continued use even in the most delicate and debilitated. Thus we have the combination for the first time of these two necessary elements in the one remedy, which accounts for its superior and never failing curative effects in

RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATIC GOUT

AND

RHEUMATIC PAINS

Of all kinds.

Put Up in 10 oz. Bottles at $1 50 per Bottle.

RUBBER AND LEATHER BELTING, FARM WAGONS, GRASS SEEDS, ETC., ETC.

The particular attention of the Farming Community is called to our recent importation of Improved MOLINE PLOWS, greatly superior to any other Moline Plow in the Market, notwithstanding a certain firm, somewhat noted for truth and veracity—"so called"—persist in affirming that they are "bogus," "California made," etc.

"Don't fail to call and look at one of the MOLINE PLOWS [illegible]; and we think you will coincide with [illegible] Farmer, who, after "looking round" and hearing the old story about bogus Moline etc., delivered himself thusly: "Well, Myers, I'll just chance a couple of those new plows, and if they are 'bogus,' as that gassy chap above here says, I'll be d—arned if I won't take bogus in mine every time."

Next month we expect another shipment of those justly celebrated BAIN WAGONS, (there are now only a few left of the last lot,) STILL FURTHER IMPROVED over all heretofore received. It is not presumption on our part to say that they are head and shoulders above any other Farm wagon in market, in point of material, workmanship and finish, having achieved a reputation throughout the West, and wherever introduced on the Pacific, second to no other wagon. Some of the first sold here—three years ago,—have never yet had a tire re-set, and our experience, has enabled us to order many changes and improvements over the ordinary make of western wagons to meet the wants and requirements of this coast. We shall sell the BAIN WAGON at the lowest possible price for a first class wagon, and WARRANT them such, and in this connection beg to caution purchasers not to confound them with "inferior makes" that others are, or may endeavor to sell on the strength of the established reputation of the Bain manufacture, particularly after having made repeated and persistent efforts (without avail) to purchase wagons of Mr. Bain for this market.

Early History of the "Overland"

Some singular literary episodes connected with the early history of the Overland, from the pen of J T Watkins the present able editor of the Baltimore Bulletin may be of interest We clip from the article

To the many curious instances of obstacles besetting the first appearance of works which have afterward become famous the story called 'The Luck of Roaring Camp —now recognized as the best American sketch of its character, and the first of a series of contributions to the permanent literature of the language—is to be added The Overland Monthly had reached we believe, its third number It was published by the California firm of Roman & Co , and printed by a firm which we may designate as Bacon & Co Frank Bret Harte was editor The preceding numbers had been received on this side of the continent with singular cordiality The critics raised a cry of welcome, and proclaimed [illegible] new star which had arisen in the West [illegible] California, each number was received and examined with that sort of solicitude born of local pride and something of provincial sensitiveness that pervades the family upon the appearance of an infant The MS for No 3 of the new maga was sent to the printers, and The Luck of Roaring Camp 'as its leading story was set up A young woman was employed in the firm as proof-reader and to her the first proofs were handed She read the first column, and laid it down

This is not fit for a lady to read'' she bristled "it must be sent back to the publishers' And it was Mr Roman was out of town sick. His excellent man of business—a sagacious Scot, with the same notion of literature that a cricket has of comic sections—looked at the naughty tale and shivered What should he do? Mr Roman s property wavered on the brink of destruction, at the hands of an impure minded editor He sent by stealth for the literary critic of the leading newspaper and an ardent friend of the magazine The literary critic stood appalled The shocking tale

An Eccentric Abolitionist

[illegible] since his retirement from the Daily Chronicle in Wash[illegible] series of exceedingly in[illegible] entitled 'Anecdotes of Pub[illegible] Sunday Chronicle, of which [illegible] control No man in the [illegible] by long and intimate [illegible] with public men of all parties [illegible] so interesting quarter [illegible] material for the fu[illegible] his last week's paper he [illegible] account of a meeting between an abolitionist of those days (and a leading [illegible] of them Dr William Elder of Philadelphia, and Messrs Slidell, Breckinridge and Douglass with some fifteen other [illegible] at his table in Washing[illegible]

[illegible] the restraint of the first course or [illegible] thawed by a generous draft of cham[illegible] who sat at my board were quick[illegible] attracted by the agreeable manners and [illegible] wit of my abolition friend He [illegible] monopolized their whole attention by his comments on books and men, and his full knowledge of the resources of their own section At last one of them said ' Pray, Dr Elder how is it that one of your taste and learning should be so opposed to Southern rights and institutions? That opened the ball, and nothing loth, he answered with a story I can never forget—a story which I believe has never been forgotten by any one who heard it "When I lived in Pittsburg gentlemen, said the Doctor, "where I had the honor to vote for James G Birney for President in 1844, being one of a very, very small party, which will soon control Pennsylvania by an Andrew Jackson majority we had a strange character among us who occasionally made speeches against slavery, and whose peculiarities were that when he became excited he gave way to uncontrollable tears and oaths I always went to hear him for there was an odd fascination about him One night he was advertised to speak against the fugitive slave law—a measure which roused him almost to madness—and I was among the audience He closed his harangue with a passage something like this ' Let us apply this law to ourselves, brethren and sisters. I live about a mile out of town, and rarely get back to my quiet home till evening, and the first to welcome me at the garden gate are my little girl Mary and my bright-eyed son Willie—the joy of my heart the stars of my life Suppose when I get home to-morrow, I meet my wife instead of my children, at the door, and on asking for my darlings, she tells me that a man called John C Calhoun of South Carolina, and another man called Henry Clay of Kentucky had come in my absence, and carried them down South into slavery How would you feel in such a case? How do you think I would feel? What would I do? you ask Well I tell you I would follow the aforesaid John C Calhoun and Henry Clay follow them to the South, follow them to the gates of death and hell yes into hell and there cram the red hot coals down their damned, infernal throats!" "And this outburst added Dr Elder "was punctuated with alternate sobs and swearing I have given you one of the many causes gentlemen that have confirmed me in my abolitionism

It is impossible to convey an idea of the manner in which Dr Elder told this incident, or the effect produced upon the Southern men around him They listened with profound and breathless interest, and more than one with a pale cheek and moistened eye, and though they did not say they agreed with the eloquent Doctor, I saw that they respected him for the candor and warmth with which he had replied to their equally candid question

The Last Literary Success

The New York correspondent of the Boston Sunday Times gives the following interesting literary gossip

You have doubtless read ' Little Breeches and Jim Bludso,' which have been going the rounds of the papers—the first for about six weeks, and the other for as many days Col John Hay, formerly Private Secretary to President Lincoln, and now attached to the editorial staff of the Tribune, is the author of the poems, which have brought him so much well-deserved though sudden fame He says that two months ago he was lying awake nights wondering how he could get enough literary work to keep him busy within the past fortnight he has had applications from three prominent magazines and a half a dozen newspapers to write for their columns, and the most of them are ready to let him write what he pleases and on his own terms What a difference it makes with an author whether he is famous or not'

Many people imagine that poetry is written as one would indite a letter to a friend or make out a grocery bill 'Little Breeches was written in pieces Colonel Hay heard the story one Saturday evening, and next day while sitting in a church and listening to a dull sermon, he composed the last four lines of the poem Then he wrote the four lines that precede these last, and finished his efforts for the day The next day he wrote the fourth verse, and then followed it up with the fifth and sixth Then he wrote the first second, and third, and, after some alterations and transpositions, it assumed the shape in which it went into print

"Jim Bludso" was the work of a single morning, and was written, verse after verse pretty nearly as it has been printed The story is a true one, though the names of Jim Bludso and the Prairie Belle are fictitious The hero was the resident of a town in Illinois where Col Hay once lived In the first verse are the lines

"Where have you been for the last three years,
That you haven't heard folks tell
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks
The night of the Prairie Belle?"

Col Hay went to Europe at the close of the war and was Secretary of Legation at Paris, Madrid and other places After an absence of four or five years he came back, and, while visiting the town referred to, he inquired for a steamboat engineer who formerly lived there There was a look of astonishment on the face of the person to whom he addressed his question, and then he heard the story which has become immortal in Jim Bludso He receives with the most becoming modesty the compliments that are pouring upon him from all directions, and will probably try his pen at something in the same line when he feels the spirit moving him to do so. Some critics have accused him of imitating Bret Harte There is this similarity in the poems of the two men, that both are excellent, but the veins they are working are quite different And as Col Hay has been a writer of verses for more than a dozen years, and followed the line he is now following long before "Truthful James' or "The Heathen Chinee" made their appearance, the charge of imitation has about as much foundation as the moon hoax
